OFFICIAL CATALOG OF RANDOM COMPONENTS

Volume 1: Serial # 0001 - 1000

a Trans-Industrial company is proud to present this first official Catalog of Random Components.

All these components are waiting to be possessed by you.

You can use the Superflu© Random Components as a personal or commercial logo, tattoo, ornament, stamp, poster, T-shirt, CD-cover, painting or mural and everything else you can think of.

With the official Superflu© certificate for the exclusive rights to one of the Superflu© Random Components, every product in which a Superflu© Random Component is used is automatically recognized as an original Superflu© Art Product, and so as well automatically part of the fluctuations of Superflu© on the very, very, very official art market.

Without this official Superflu© certificate it is strictly forbidden to use these Superflu© Random Components in any way.

If you like to have the exclusive rights for one (or more) of these Superflu© Random Components and an official Superflu© certificate, contact our Superflu© Sales Agents (SSA) (This catalog belongs to one of them) and they will inform you about the technical details.

If you want to become a Superflu© Sales-Agent, you only have to buy this catalog, find some interested clients, bring them in contact with Superflu© and get 10% of the price of every Superflu© certificate, sold as a result of your mediation.

It is also possible to have e-mail or other contact with the director of Superflu, mr. Jan van Wissen.

After the publication of this Superflu© Catalog of Random Components, agents of Superflu went out to sell Random Components all over the world.
